NOME CITY SCHOOLS World Wide Web Permission to Publish FormDear Parent/Guardian:

Your student will have the opportunity to publish documents and participate in projects on the World Wide Web as part of the school's educational program. These projects might include a personal home page, a story or poem, a graphic, a science or research project, a group photograph from an activity or club, or a project in collaboration with local or international students. Your student may also have the opportunity participate in a live videoconference with another school or an organization such as NASA or The Seward Sea life Center. Additionally, a teacher may publish classroom work with photographs of students involved in these activities (image use guidelines below). Individuals with Internet access around the world will be able to view and may respond publicly to your student's work by electronic transmission. Nome City School's believes that this is an exciting and enriching opportunity for our students that will help prepare them success in the 21st century. However, we will publish these documents only with your written permission. Please consider the following options, then sign and return this form to your student's teacher. To see examples of work that is already published on the World Wide Web, please contact your student's teacher or the District Technology Department.
